MORE TROUBLE FOR LOEB.

If the predicted panic occurs the effort to lay the blame on Roosevelt will fail. Preparations to lay it all on Loeb have already been completed. Houston Post.

The West Virginia wireless to San Francisco from a distance of 850 miles away is a good achievement," said Manager Branch of the local wireless company, "but the trouble, from the practical man's point of view, is that while on one day you can send such a message, the next day it may prove impossible. Atmospheric conditions not yet understood make the matter very uncertain. Owing to this fact there is much to be done before use of the wireless over very long distances can be relied upon.

"We have done some figuring on the matter of San Francisco communication from here and are ready to take it up. Commercial use of the system over that distance is not, as yet, however, to be expected. When the necessary perfection of instruments is attained the local company is ready to take the matter up."

From one of the operators of the company it is learned that "shut up," is beginning to be one of the commonest messages shot into the air from the local wireless stations, for the rapid increase in the number of steamers having wireless is resulting in a constant "bumping in" by vessels far off. The butt-ins interrupt the inter-island service.

Kauai has just joined the islands which daily receive long press messages from Honolulu, and now there are news messages going in all directions of the time, to the extent of several hundred words a day. The warships and transports approaching here have found it out, and now when they are a couple of days away from Honolulu, they begin to "listen" for the news of the world. The cruiser squadron, and the transport Thomas

ONE VAG CASE, MANY JAG CASES

JUDGE ANDRADE GIVES ALLEGED VAG CHANCE TO WORK AND SENTENCES DRUNKS.

Only a few cases came up this morning in Police Court and they were disposed of very quickly with the exception of the case of Kamamura who was charged with vagrancy. Charles Chillingworth defended the man while Attorney Brown had charge of the prosecution. It seems that Kamamura was arrested about two weeks ago on suspicion and has been kept in the station house ever since.

Two Japanese Hotel keepers were witnesses against Kamamura this morning and were asked if they had ever known the defendant to be engaged in any kind of work. They said no, although they were aware of the fact that he had been trying to secure employment.

After a good deal of examination on the part of Brown and Chillingworth the case was rested on the evidence without any further argument.

Judge Andrade said that he thought that the prisoner had been kept long enough in custody, and was willing to give the defendant a chance to get to work. Hence he decided that according to the evidence presented the prisoner was "not guilty."

In the case of Victorino Jouza and his son, who were arrested last night for being unlawfully on the premises of L. Beckley, in a state of wild intoxication, and for having weapons in their possession, Prosecutor Brown asked the court to dismiss the case, as the chief witnesses in the case did not wish to press the charge, and after a severe heart to heart talk from Judge Andrade the father and son were allowed to go, with the warning to be more careful in the future.

C. W. Gaiser, who was arrested last night for having too much liquor refreshment on board, presented a very bad appearance in court this morning. His eyes were both black and blue, and he shook so that he was obliged to hold the rail in front of the judges' desk for support. Judge Andrade seemed to take a good deal of interest in the matter and as it was Gaiser's first offense, fined him six dollars and costs and told him he hoped that he would not be able to pay the costs, as he thought a few days over in Sheriff Henry's boarding house would do him a lot of good. He would have a chance to sober up. Gaiser did not seem to realize anything that was going on, and he very meekly returned to the pen to await the arrival of the "free ride" wagon.

Sam Davidson, alias Johnson, cook of the cable ship Restorer, who was charged with assault on the person of Colonel Knox, both being negro on her last trip, a couple of days ahead of arrival, took long press messages intended for Hilo, Wailuku, Lahaina and Lihue, and thus got the news of the world.

The "shut up" messages begin when the steamships start to do their own talking. Every message they send is received at the Harbor's point, Lahaina and other local stations, and commercial messages of the local system are much interrupted. "There is a ruling already," from Washington," said Manager Branch when asked about this feature of the difficulty, "that commercial messages shall have the right of way, but of course with varying instruments there is necessarily some confusion, which accounts for delays in sending messages."

"The long messages, like that of the West Virginia, are not yet commercially useful, except now and then. Here in the islands, we have about as successful a steady working system of wireless as there is yet in the world. But there come days when the atmospheric conditions prevent our 190-mile sending to Hawaii, and we have to relay at Lahaina."

At times when there are a number of vessels in port with wireless the air is alive with words. The local instruments get them all, and trouble results in the form of interruptions of their own messages.

It is said that the next legislature will be asked to pass some sort of a law, and that the federal government will be appealed to assist, in protecting Hawaii stations from a threatened deluge of messages from all directions at sea, which would spoil the present fine commercial inter-island system.

FREAR THANKS AN ENTERTAINER

SAN FRANCISCO DOCTOR WHO SHOWED KIND ATTENTION TO THE RIFLE TEAM.

Governor Frear this morning sent a letter of thanks to Dr. G. F. Brackett, of San Francisco, for the pains and interest he took in showing the members of the Hawaiian National Guard rifle team a good time while they were in his city.

It seems that Dr. Brackett had been spending a vacation in Honolulu, which, by the way, was a very quiet one for the reason that no one appeared to care to extend a very hearty welcome, and was on his way home on the Alameda on which the rifle team also took passage. The doctor, however, did not hold any grudge, but on arriving in San Francisco did his best to make the several days the team spent there enjoyable to the boys, pressing his own and a friend's automobile into service, and otherwise doing the honors of host in masterly fashion.

PAY FOR TROUBLE.

Marion Myhre has instituted suit against George C. Myhre for divorce and an order was issued by Judge De Bolt this morning to the defendant to show cause why he should not pay attorney's fees for his wife, her traveling expenses in coming to Honolulu to prosecute her case, and $50 per month for support of herself and child until the case is settled.

gentlemen of the darkest hue, had his case put over until tomorrow morning, so that his lawyer, B. L. Marx, could have time to secure the presence of some important witnesses at court tomorrow morning. Knox in court this morning looked as if he had been pretty well smashed up. His nose was far from being in its natural state while his port eye was just about opening up.

The cases of Watanabe and Nishizaka both charged with being vagrants were postponed until tomorrow morning so that their counsel, S. F. Chillingworth, could have witnesses present who could testify in their behalf.

J. J. Quinn, a sailor on the S. S. Missouri was around town last night trying to hoop things up a bit, and was finally brought into the station house last night charged with being drunk and disorderly. Judge Andrade asked him if he was willing to climb up on the "water wagon," and being assured that he would, suspended sentence and told him to get back on board his ship, and not to try and consume all the booze that was around the town.

A MODEL TREATY.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 12.—Special care was taken in drafting the general arbitration treaty just concluded, in behalf of the irrefragable governments, by the Italian and Argentine delegation to the peace conference, in order that it serve as a model for other treaties of a like nature which Italy and Argentine expect to conclude with other countries. By the terms of this treaty the two countries interested agree to submit to arbitration all differences which may arise between them, with the exception of those affecting provisions of the constitution or questions of nationality. In case of a conflict of views each country will appoint an arbitrator of the two countries being unable to agree on the appointments of a third the appointment will be made by the Queen of "The Netherlands."

WANT THE WHARF.

Governor Frear yesterday afternoon received a proposal from the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company for the lease of the government wharf at Hilo for a term of 21 years. The company agreed to make repairs and changes in the wharf to the extent of $20,000 provided the proposition of the lease was agreed to. The Governor stated this morning that he will consider the matter with relation to terms, etc., and he desires to inform himself more fully on the probable future value of the wharf before coming to a decision.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The new British airship made its first trial trip from Farnborough, Hampshire, today. It ascended beautifully and made the circuit of the common in a manner that provoked the admiration of the spectators. Drag ropes had been put out in case of accident, but were not required. Col. Capper, chief aerostatic officer, steered.

HART CASE UP AGAIN

charge and the defendant should be dismissed.

Davis said Brown was to have handed him a copy of the charge but he had not done so. "We were together, Davis and I, all yesterday afternoon and he never reminded me of it," said Brown. There was a smile. "Contributory negligence," suggested Judge Andrade.

"Your honor has fortunately practiced law before your honor was elevated to your honor's present position," purred Davis, "and therefore your honor knows the proper procedure in a matter of this nature. It is for your honor to decide, this point involving the virtue of the charge. There is nothing contrary to the statute charged herein—then and there being." I guess the typewriter slipped and they forgot to state what my client was 'then and there being'."

Prosecutor Brown moved for a continuance of the case until Monday morning. Davis wanted the case to come up tomorrow morning, but meanwhile he wanted his client dismissed because there was no proper charge upon which he could be held. Brown drew attention to the fact that it made little difference whether Hart was dismissed on this particular charge or not, for he would be held in any event under the charge of arson. "That has nothing to do with this case," said Davis.

Judge Andrade said that personally he would like to see the whole Hart matter go direct to the grand jury. "But you have jurisdiction, your honor, have you not?" asked Davis. "Oh, yes," said the court. "Then I do not want to take the matter out of your hands." Davis stated that he had only just come into the case. Hart had asked him yesterday morning to represent him. His time as an attorney was worth something and he wanted the matter hastened, besides Hart was entitled to a speedy trial. "It is not as if this were the only charge holding him," reminded Brown. "He may be able to furnish bail, for all I know," said Davis.

Brown said he needed time to prepare the prosecution and Judge Andrade compromised the several demands by continuing the hearing until Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Since the arson confession holds Hart in any event, Davis had no strenuous objections.

After this disposition of the case Hart was returned to jail.

"I doubt if Hart could ever be convicted on the charge of mutilating warehouse receipts if he had not confessed to setting fire to the building," said an attorney who had listened to the court proceedings.

"I wonder what the defense will be?" remarked another spectator.

"That Hart was the poor tool in the hands of a scheming chap as yet unmentioned," said one who pretends to know.

"Insanity," said another.

"Drugs," suggested a third.

"Heart disease," contributed a fourth.

Brown's stated reason for asking for a continuance was that Chief Taylor was the principal witness for the prosecution and he had gone to Ewa on business for the day and would not be back until evening.

Lionel lost one good attorney by insisting on discussing his case with others. A. G. M. Robertson undertook the defense at first, but Lionel wouldn't follow his instructions about talking with other attorneys. Hart was very anxious to land Mayer, and several times asked to see Breckons and talk with him, contrary to Robertson's instructions. Hart was anxious to lay before Breckons as prosecutor anything which he thought might help to make things look bad for Mayer. As this kept up, Robertson withdrew from the case. George A. Davis is now trying to handle the troublesome client.
